FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Trace Adkins to Perform at Wind Creek Atmore

ATMORE, AL – (06/14/2019) Trace Adkins will take the stage at Wind Creek Casino & Hotel Atmore (WCA) Amphitheater on Saturday, August 10, 2019 at 9pm. Tickets are on sale Monday, June 17, 2019 at ticketmaster.com or Essentials gift shop inside the casino.

A Nashville icon for more than two decades, Trace Adkins has made his mark on the country-music industry. Eleven million albums sold. Time-honored hit singles. Momentous, fiery and always memorable live performances. GRAMMY nominations. CMT and ACM awards. Nearly 200 million plays on YouTube. Hell, even a slew of movie and TV roles have come the Grand Ole Opry member's way. But ask Adkins what's left to prove in his career and the small-town Louisiana native says it's simple: the itch remains. To create. To collaborate. To continually feel the excitement that comes after whipping up a new song out of thin air and laying it down to tape. It's what, after all these years, he says he still craves. "It's an adrenaline rush and I love it," says Adkins, who is back in the studio working on a new project via, BBR Music Group/Wheelhouse Records. "There's nothing else like that," the Louisiana naive offers. "That is still my favorite thing to do in this business. Go into the studio with just some lyrics and a melody and then let the finest musicians in the world help take it and turn it into something magical. It liberates me. I just dig it!"

Working with some of Nashville's most respected songwriters, Adkins continues to find ways to connect with his fans through music while recording what he describes as autobiographical songs throughout his career. "Over the years people have asked me 'How could we get to know you?' Well, if you really wanted to know who Trace Adkins is go back and listen to the album cuts on the records I've done over my career. Those are the songs that reflect where I was in my head at the time I made that record."

With one million followers on Spotify and over one billion spins on Pandora (10 million spins per month), the longstanding country icon has yet to lose any of his trademark passion and killer instinct for his craft. The 57-year-old is as fired up as ever to be back on the road this year, taking his music to the fans once again. "I get a kick out of it. I still enjoy the camaraderie, the band of brothers, your crew and your band. I'm an old jock. I like team sports," he says of a continued passion for touring.

Ask Adkins where he goes from here and he'll say it's quite simple: keep doing what he knows and loves. Performing. Creating. Inspiring. He adores it. And, he adds, he knows so many of his lifelong fans, and new ones to boot, do too. "I'm gonna go out there and find those people," he says with a laugh of the coming months. "I'm gonna bring a band and turn it up real loud! And we're gonna have a good time!"

And when asked about his return to the Amphitheater at Wind Creek Atmore, he didn't hesitate. "I love playing there. It's a great venue and a great crowd, and I'm really looking forward to it!"
